

CAERNARVON
CASTLE AND TOWN
1294

In 1294, Caernarvon was still growing; vacant burgage plots awaiting home construction were common within the walls. Since this map focuses on streets, the areas between them should be imagined as a mix of houses, gardens, sheds, outbuildings, and open spaces. Nota bene: This map is an approximation, reconstructed from available sources.